

Koos with members of his adoptive family. Nobody knows where he came from . . . or why he stays. But the goats don't mind — he picks ticks off them, rides them occasionally and stays close to them after dark. In fact, he seems quite happy to settle down and grow old at Waterloo . . . but don't bring a camera near him!

